Tiger fans whoop it up at all games, but especially at Homecoming. And the displays which fraternities and sororities spend endless hours constructing bring out the ingenuity which only university students can accomplish. Many thousands view these displays over Homecoming weekend.

Women's Athletics - A new look at Tigertown

Mary Kennerty

"The best thing about our program is the fact that we're all in the same family," said Mary Kennerty, head coach of both the women's basketball and tennis teams at Clemson. "And I can't help but believe that this gives us a much better foundation than if the men operated under one roof, and the women under a separate one."

Ms. Kennerty, a native of Charleston and a 1972 graduate of Clemson, is one of three head coaches employed at Tigertown to get the women's athletic program headed in the right direction. And this year, in 1975-76, the Tigers will field varsity sports for women in four areas — basketball, fencing, swimming, and tennis.

Clemson's program will differ somewhat from the women's programs at other schools in that Tiger athletic director Bill McLellan will head up the entire sports program. Some schools have appointed a separate women's AD.

Then, according to McLellan, the women's basketball team, coached by Ms. Kennerty, will come under the administrative auspices of Tiger head cage coach Bill Foster; the Coke Ellington-coached swimmers under 28-year veteran men's coach Carl McHugh's administration; the Bill Shipman-coached fencers under the administration of men's mentor Charlie Poteat; and the lady netters, also coached by Ms. Kennerty, under Chuck Kriese's administration.

"We're getting started with a solid program," said Ms. Kennerty. "In some instances, women's programs have been separated to the extent that they operate on one side of the campus in one facility, and the men have their own facility on the other side of campus.

"It's not that way at Clemson, as the women's program is fortunate to have individuals like Bill McLellan and Bill Foster, people who are experienced in the field of athletics, giving us a boost."

McLellan, Clemson's AD since February of 1971, pointed out that the University "has tried to meet the needs of its female enrollment. We're funding four women's varsity programs, and the fact that both men and women use the same facility is an added plus."

Clemson is a member of the AIAW (the Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women), which is a national organization, as well as the SCAIAW, which is the South Carolina association of that national organization.

Membership in the AIAW permits the women to participate in regional and national events, just as the Tigers' membership in the NCAA permits the men to participate in that organization's regional and national events.

Ms. Kennerty has a tentative 16-game cage slate scheduled for the Tiger women, plus the Francis Marion Invitational, the South Carolina State Tourney, and hopefully an Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament. All home games will be played in spacious Littlejohn Coliseum.

Unlike the men, the big tourney of the Tiger women is the State Tournament, not the ACC, as the champion and the runner-up both land a berth in the 16-team field at the regionals.

Clemson falls under the Southern Region II, composed of basketball teams in the five states of North and South Carolina, Kentucky, Tennessee, and Virginia. The regional winner then advances to the AIAW nationals.

The lady swimmers, a winter sport, hope to compete in a 10-12 dual meet regular season under the direction of Ellington, a former University of Georgia swimmer, with home dates being held in the new and modern Fike Recreation Center with its eight-lane pool and separate diving tank.

Like the Tiger men, the tankwomen reach the national championships only after meeting certain qualifying times.

Shipman, a former All-ACC fencer at North Carolina, indicated that he planned a 10-meet women's program this winter, with all home encounters slated for Fike.

A national tourney is open to any member of the AIAW,

Coke Ellington

and each school may enter four fencers who compete in a round-robin format.

Clemson is also a member of the Amateur Fencing League of America (AFLA), which is the fencing division of the AAU, and this permits both men and women fencers at Tigertown to compete on a state-wide or regional basis throughout the Southeast.

Ms. Kennerty, who has taught and offered tennis instruction for the past seven years in addition to serving as girls' basketball coach for one season at Atlanta's Russell High School, hopes for a 20-25 match slate for the women's Tiger netters.

The USLTA (United States Lawn Tennis Association) sponsors a National Women's Collegiate Tennis Championship, which is open to any member of the team.

Whereas this year's lady cagers will mark the first season ever for them at Tigertown, the women's tennis and swimming team ran on a club level last year, and Clemson has sponsored a women's fencing team, also on a club level, for the past few seasons.

Just a quarter of a century ago, Clemson was an all-male A&M college. Today, the school's rapidly expanding athletic program includes four women's teams with experienced and well-qualified coaches, and with facilities that the vast majority of the nation's men's teams at major institutions around the country would boast of.

To borrow a much-used cliche, Clemson "has come a long way, baby," in its initial season with women's intercollegiate varsity teams as part of its athletic program.

Tennis coach Mary Kennerty, a member of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, instructs her lady netters at Tigertown.

CLEMSON VS. WAKE FOREST

Of all the great collegiate rivalries in America, the Clemson-Wake Forest series would rank right at the top.

Although the two charter members of the Atlantic Coast Conference have played but 40 previous games, the Tigers and Demon Deacons have battled on the gridiron every single season with the exception of 1934, 1952, and 1973, since the series began in 1933.

And even though the Tigers hold the edge with 29 wins compared to Wake's 10 — there was one tie in 1968 — 16 of the previous encounters separated the two teams by a touchdown or less . . . all cliffhangers.

Truly one of the great highlights of the series would be the 14-year confrontation between Clemson's Frank Howard and Wake's Peahead Walker.

During Walker's tenure at Wake Forest from 1937 until 1950, the Tigers and Deacons each won seven games, and Wake had a six-game winning streak from 1942 through 1947.

Three memorable battles occurred in succession. Starting with a 13-6 Clemson win in 1957, the Tigers followed with 14-12 and 33-31 wins in 1958 and 1959, respectively. And people who saw those battles are still talking about the fireworks.

The 1957 contest could be described as a defensive battle. The Tigs had 265 yards offensively compared to Wake's 192, and it was actually the Clemson defense which earned Howard's gridders the victory.

The Deacons drew first blood with a 71-yard drive in 15 plays, with fullback Neil MacLean getting the final five yards around right end. MacLean, who netted 36 yards on that drive, went over at the 2:07 mark in the initial period, but his PAT was no good and Wake carried that margin into the middle of the last stanza.

At that point, the Tiger defense had just halted a 67-yard Wake drive at the Clemson 10.

Quarterback Harvey White directed a beautiful 90-yard TD drive, hitting Doug Cline with a 25-yard aerial and Whitey Jordan with a 23-yard toss, the latter giving Clemson a first and 10 at the Wake 22. The Tigers were looking at a fourth and ten situation at the Deacon 45 just before the Jordan completion.

Only 1:36 remained on the clock, and White stepped back and found Cline for a 22-yard TD strike to tie the game, and the signal-caller booted the point-after for a 7-6 Clemson lead.

A fake punt four plays later and an alert Clemson defense gave the Tigers the ball at the Wake five, and three plays later Cline barreled over right tackle from one yard out for the Tiger's second tally in 59 seconds.

The following year, Nov. 1, 1958 to be exact, Wake came to town for Clemson's Homecoming, and with a sophomore quarterback named Norman Snead.

Clemson scored first, marching 90 yards in 14 plays, with White going over on the first play of the second period on a one-yard sneak.

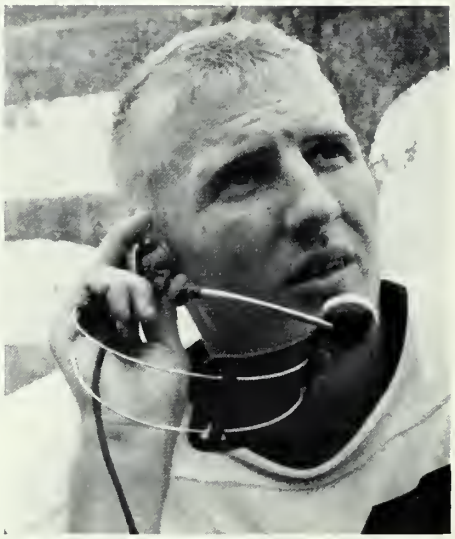
And White, taking advantage of a new rule which came about prior to the 1958 season, passed for two points to Wyatt Cox, and Clemson led 8-0.

The Tigers couldn't move on their next possession and punted to Wake at the Clemson 44.

Eight plays later Bobby Robinson carried the ball for a one-yard TD; Snead's pass fell incomplete; and Wake trailed 8-6, which stood until the fourth period.

The Tigs took a short Wake punt at the Deacon 38, and hard-running Mike Dukes carried three times — for four, five, and 22 yards, the last for a TD to spot Clemson a 14-6 lead.

But the Deacs came right back and marched 75 yards in nine plays with Snead getting the TD on a five-yard run, but Snead's pass to Pete Manning was broken up and the Tigs held on for a 14-12 win, despite the fact that the Deacs had possession on the Clemson 30 when time ran out.



Harvey White

But folks who watched those two previous clif-hangers hadn't seen anything yet.

The Tigers had stopped Wake on its first offensive possession in the 1959 game, and White, now a senior, had marched Clemson from its own 23 to the Deac 35.

But on a first down play, White's pass was picked off by Bobby Robinson who raced unmolested down the sidelines for a 65-yard TD. MacLean's PAT made it 7-0 Wake with 10:50 to play in the first period.

Clemson marched to the Deac 15 but couldn't score, however six plays later Ron Scrudato picked off a Snead aerial on the Wake 37 and returned it to the goal line. Two plays later Doug Daigneault scored, but Lowndes Shingler's PAT was wide and Wake still led 7-6.

The Deacons took the ensuing kickoff and marched 70 yards for the TD, the big play coming when Snead hit Bobby Allen on a 44-yard aerial to the Tiger 11. Snead's pass to Jerry Ball on the initial play of the second period spotted the Deacons a 13-7 lead, and MacLean's PAT made it 14-6.

Now it was Clemson's turn. The Tigers marched 65 yards in 11 plays; Cline scored from the one; and White hit Sammy Anderson for the two-point conversion to knot the score at 14-14.

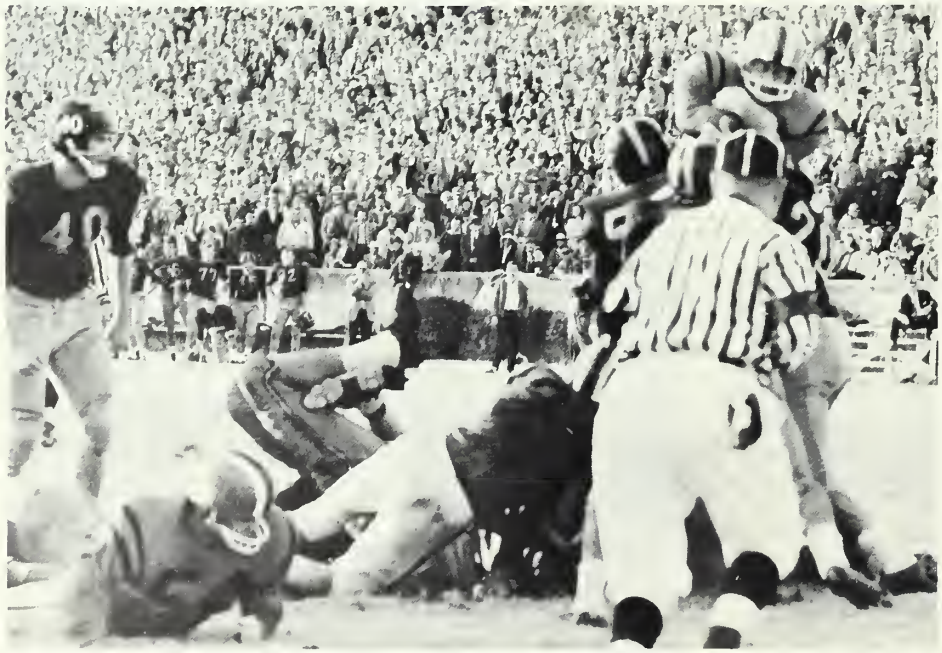
Yet the Deacons weren't through. Bill Ruby returned Jack Veronee's kickoff to the Wake 35, and a piling-on penalty put the Deacs in business at midfield. Wake took the ball to the Clemson three, thanks to a 37-yard scamper by Winston Futch, but the Tigers held and MacLean booted a field goal to give Wake a 17-14 halftime lead.

Midway through the third period, with Wake looking at a third and 26 situation at its own 15, Snead hit MacLean in the flat, and the Deac fullback rambled 75 yards to the Clemson 10.

Allen took Snead's pass on the next play for a TD; MacLean kicked the point-after; and the Deacs jumped to a 24-14 lead.

Shingler then directed a Clemson drive that carried 66 yards in seven plays. Scrudato had two runs for a total of 25 yards, and Shingler hit Ed Bost for passes of 15 and 23 yards, the latter giving Clemson six points. Shingler's pass to Bost for the two points missed, but Wake led 24-20, which is how the period ended.

Clemson finally got a lead in the fourth quarter, thanks to a nifty 48-yard punt return by Harry Pavilack which put the Tigers on the Wake 24 with a first and 10.



George Usry goes high in the air to score the winning touchdown against Wake Forest in the Tiger's 33-31 victory in 1959. Two plays earlier Usry had intercepted a pass and returned it 73 yards to the Deacon 10.

George Usry rushed twice for 14 yards and the hard-charging Cline got the other 10 in three carries, the last being a one-yard burst to paydirt. White kicked the point-after to put Clemson up 27-24.

But before Clemson fans could get back into their seats, John Morris took the ensuing kickoff at the Wake 15 and raced all the way to the Tig 27.

Snead then connected with Alan White on an 18-yard first down toss, and Morris got the pleasure of scoring two plays later with a two-yard carry. MacLean added the PAT and Wake re-gained the lead at 31-27 with only 6:40 to play.

After Bill Mathis brought back MacLean's kickoff to the Clemson 31, Cline fumbled on the next play and the Deacs recovered at the Tiger 30, looking to put the game out of reach.

But on a third and four situation at Clemson's 24, Deac quarterback Chuck Reiley surprised everyone with a pass. Usry was in the right place and picked off the aerial and returned in 73 yards to the Wake 10.

Mathis then carried for eight yards, and Usry went over from the two with 4:24 left to give Clemson a 33-31 margin.

Pavalick intercepted a Snead aerial at the 50 to kill Wake's last drive, and the Tigers ran out the clock with the ball on the Deac 29.

Another Clemson-Wake Forest classic came Oct. 18, 1969, which was another Homecoming affair with the Deacons.

Ray Yauger rushed for 202 yards and scored a pair of touchdowns, and Jim Sursavage made a great catch of a Tommy Kendrick-aerial on a fourth-and-seven, to give the Tigers a first down at the Wake 15 late in the game.

That 19-yard pass completion set up Yauger's second tally which broke a 14-14 tie with just 2:39 to play, and 139 second later Charlie Waters scooted 20 and five yards, respectively on double reverses, the last time giving Clemson an insurance score, and a 28-14 victory.

Two years later, again on Homecoming at Tigertown, Cal Stoll brought the defending Atlantic Coast Conference champion Deacons to Death Valley for an Oct. 30th showdown.

Wake marched 54 yards in 10 plays on its first possession with Larry Russell hitting Kevin Byrnes for an eight-yard TD with 9:27 left in the first period.

Hard luck struck the Deacons as All-America Chuck Ramsey's PAT went wide and Wake had to settle for a 6-0 lead.

Clemson had good field position thanks to a 46-yard punt return by Jeff Siepe, giving Clemson a first down at the Deac 16. But the rugged Wake defense held Clemson and took over on downs at the Deacons' two.

Larry Hefner

Doug Cline (37), who played a big part in Clemson victories over Wake Forest in 1957-58-59, gets ready to head up through the briar patch against the Deacons in the 1958 game. Neil MacLean (31), Karl Munn (51) and an unidentified Deac wait for Cline while Tiger quarterback Harvey White (10) looks on.

The big play of the first half came with just 4:30 left till intermission.

Wake had moved from its own 44 to the Tiger one where the Deacs were facing a fourth and goal.

All-ACC back Larry Hopkins took the handoff, but before he could get out of his backfield, all-league linebacker Larry Hefner blasted the Wake runner for a two-yard loss on one of the hardest hits ever seen on Frank Howard Field, and the Deacons went into the locker room with a 6-0 lead.

Wake took the third period kickoff and went from its own 21 to the Clemson 19, but Tracy Lounsbury's 34-yard field goal attempt went wide to the left and Clemson had new life.

Neither team could muster a drive throughout the period however, Clemson had begin a march which started at the Tiger 49, with 2:13 left in the quarter, and Kendrick hit tight end John McMakin for a 20-yard first down at the Deac 29.

Heide Davis got six yards on two carries, and Rick Gilstrap gave Clemson another first down with a six-yard burst to the Wake 17 as time ran out in the period.

Gilstrap followed with seven yards to the Wake 10, Kendrick ran for three, and Gilstrap raced around right end for the final seven and the TD. Eddie Seigler then put Clemson on top with the extra point with still a long 13:58 to play.

The Tig defense stopped Wake, but on Clemson's next possession, Kendrick fumbled the snap and Larry Causey recovered for the Deacons at the Tiger 25. On a fourth and four, Ramsey booted a 37-yard field goal to put Wake ahead 9-7.

Dennis Goss brought the ensuing kickoff back to the Tig 15, but three plays later Frank Fussell intercepted Kindrick's pass at the Wake 49.

But on the very next play, Hopkins coughed up the football, and Frank Wirth fell on the loose pigskin for the Tigers.

Clemson managed a pair of first downs, but Tony Anderson had to punt the ball away. His 40-yard boot rolled dead at the Wake one; the Tig defense again stopped the potent Deac offense; and a Ramsey punt gave Clemson the ball on the Wake 42.

Davis carried three times for 12 yards; Gilstrap carried five times for another 18; and Clemson faced a fourth and two at the Wake 13.

Seigler then came on with only 37 seconds showing on the clock and split the uprights with a 29-yard field goal which gave the Tigers a thrilling 10-9 victory.

Those are some of the memorable moments in the thrilling Clemson-Wake Forest series. All five were played right here in Death Valley.

The two rival coaches are different, but the stage is set for another one of those great Tiger-Deacon battles. And where, but right here on Frank Howard Field, would the setting be more appropriate.

For Recreation Only

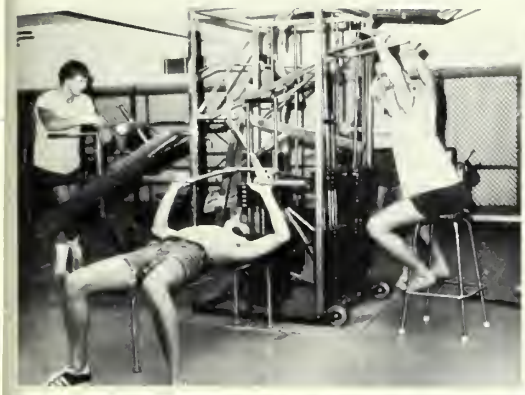
By Coke Ellington
University News Editor

With its sundeck overlooking "Death Valley," the latest addition to Fike Recreation Center is the first facility built specifically for recreational use by Clemson students.

Intramural Director Banks McFadden, who is in charge of Fike, recalls that both gyms in the older part of Fike were originally built for varsity basketball.

Opening onto the sundeck is a "pool room." It contains an eight-lane, 25-yard pool, a diving tank with two three-meter boards and two one-meter boards, and stands designed to seat more than 650 spectators.

In addition to recreational swimming, the pool facilities will be used for classes in the Recreation and Park Administration



Department and for workouts and meets by Clemson's men's and women's swimming teams.

The coaches of both teams feel the new pool will be invaluable as they seek to better last year's marks. Carl McHugh's Tigers will celebrate the Golden Anniversary of Clemson intercollegiate swimming this year. Coke Ellington's Tigresses will embark on their second season.

The Tigers attained a 9-4 dual meet mark and set 13 school records in 1975.

The Tigresses in their first season had a 2-6 dual meet record and placed third among five teams in the state collegiate championships.

George Jones, superintendent of buildings for the University, notes that, "For the first time, Clemson has proper facilities for holding college meets in diving and swimming."

McFadden points out that for the first time the addition allows adequate dressing room facilities for students to participate in recreational sports.

The addition includes 10 regulation size handball courts and three large activity areas for gymnastics, wrestling, boxing and other intramural sports.

Construction of the addition, which began in the fall of 1971, renewed the acquaintance of Jones and another Clemson alumnus who first met when Fike was being built in 1932. D. D. Gillespie, now co-owner of Gillespie Construction Co., was superintendent of construction and Jones was his assistant. Since then they have worked together on many projects.

Gillespie is a 1928 civil engineering graduate and Jones is a 1932 electrical engineering graduate.

When Fike was built Clemson enrollment was just over 1,000. Now it exceeds 10,000.

The addition tripled the size of Fike.

Memorial Stadium and exciting football is a tradition at Clemson University. The enthusiastic support for Clemson athletics by students, alumni and friends reflects this tradition in a most positive manner. It is a tradition which we wear with pride, one which we warmly share with you this Saturday afternoon in welcoming you to campus.

If you'll get to know us better you'll find we have other equally long-standing traditions . . . other traditions of continuing commitment and meaning.

One which will impress you immediately is Clemson's tradition of concern for people. Clemson is no Ivory Tower University. Its heartbeat is always alert to people's needs; its pulse renders service in all 46 counties of South Carolina. That's what this University has been about for more than 80 years. This commitment was first made for us by our founder, Thomas Green Clemson, who almost a century ago saw the great need in this State for a scientifically oriented institution of higher learning that would provide our young people with the training needed to build a better society.

As the years passed, the scope and mission of Clemson's services to the State and Nation have enlarged. Institutions — like individuals — do not stand still. Clemson is engaged in teaching, research and public service in those areas associated with a land-grant institution actively seeking to meet the needs of the people it serves. As their needs vary or change, Clemson adjusts its capabilities for service. Today, as we watch the football game, this University is responding to a wide range of problems affecting South Carolinians and people everywhere. It is a people-to-people commitment to which Clemson and its resources are totally dedicated.

Exciting football is the basic character of Memorial Stadium; relating to people is the basic character of Clemson University.

Let's make getting together a tradition. We'll learn a lot from each other. This is your campus. Come back as often as possible.

Athletic Director — BILL McLELLAN

A man for all seasons is Bill McLellan, a 43-year old native of Hamer, S. C., who has crossed every plateau in Clemson's rapidly expanding athletic program. And since he assumed the top position in the department over four years ago, Clemson athletics and excellence have been synonymous.

One might say that Clemson has been McLellan's home for 25 years, because since his graduation from high school he's been in Tigertown.

First, as a student-athlete when he played for the legendary Frank Howard. And during his undergraduate days, McLellan earned a pair of grid letters and was a member of Clemson's 1952 Gator Bowl team. He graduated from the University in 1954.

Two years later he earned his master's in agricultural economics, and the following two years he served the school in that department.

McLellan's second and long-lasting association with Clemson's athletic family began May 1, 1958, when he was appointed assistant business manager.

Although he held that title until 1966, McLellan served the athletic department in almost every imaginable area—from ticket managing and distribution, ordering and maintaining the equipment for all sports, and when the regular office staff turned out their lights upon completion of another day's work, McLellan journeyed out to the football field where he assisted his former coach with the grid duties.

In 1966, McLellan was appointed assistant athletic director, was named associate athletic director a couple of years later, and on Feb. 4, 1971, became the school's third director of athletics.

And it's been since that latter date that Clemson's athletic program has made tremendous strides.

Under McLellan's leadership, the entire athletic family relocated in the modern Frank Johnstone Jervey Center on West campus, and it's in this eye-catching structure where the dedicated Tiger AD makes his daily decisions in an effort to keep Clemson in the national limelight.

McLellan has directed improvements in all athletic areas, from aluminum seats for spectator comfort in Clemson Memorial Stadium to the most recent improvement in the program—the completion of the eight-lane swimming pool and the separate diving tank in Fike Recreation Center.

Certainly the men's varsity program speaks for itself—like the football team recording its best record a year ago since a 9-2 finish in 1959, and like the basketball team achieving its first-ever national ranking and making its first-ever trip to post-season tournament play, and like the soccer team recording its third straight ACC crown and third straight berth to the NCAA playoffs, and like the baseball team experiencing its 18th consecutive winning campaign on its way to the NCAA playoffs.

However, McLellan has directed his efforts to the overall program, including the intramural department for Clemson faculty, staff, and students alike, and the most recent addition of a women's athletic program.

A year ago, the former was in its second year of a five-year McLellan-engineered plan, as the intramural department had grown to the point that it now requires four full-time staff directors.

And last year, the Tigers fielded women's teams in fencing, swimming and tennis, with the latter posting a fine 10-2 record. Then this winter, a Clemson women's basketball team will join that trio.

So it's been a constant climb by Clemson's athletic program under the leadership of Bill McLellan, and a climb that will certainly continue as the Tigers seek an overall program second to none.

McLellan is married to the former Ann Rogers of Fork, and they have two daughters, Suzy, a sophomore at Winthrop, and Arch Anna, and two sons, Bill and Cliff.

Head Football Coach—RED PARKER

1974 Atlantic Coast Conference and South Carolina Coach-of-the-Year

In just two short years at Clemson University, Red Parker has given Tiger fans something to howl about. And whereas the howl from Tigertown has been a pleasant one, a howl of reverent awe has been heard from Clemson opponents.

Because in those two years—1973 and 1974—Parker's Tigers have netted almost 8,000 yards of total offense, and have scored more points (477) than Clemson managed in 34 previous games (475) prior to his arrival at Tigertown.

And last fall, in just his sophomore campaign, Parker led Clemson to its best finish with a 7-4 won-lost figure since the 1959 Bluebonnet Bowl Tigers posted a 9-2 slate.

Along the way the Tigers knocked off a pair of opponents who would go on to post-season bowl affairs, and because of Clemson's tie for second place in the Atlantic Coast Conference, the Redhead was tabbed as both the league's and State of South Carolina's Coach-of-the-Year in 1974.

A native of Hampton, Ark., Parker was a standout in football, baseball, and track at Arkansas A&M, graduating in 1953.

After a couple of months in a summer baseball league, the Redhead was appointed prep mentor at Fordyce, Ark., High School, a school that was experiencing the misfortune of a 22-game grid losing streak.

But in eight seasons with Parker at the helm, Fordyce lost but a dozen games on its way to an impressive 75-12-4 record which included a 37-game winning streak.

In 1961 Parker returned to his alma mater as head coach, remaining there for five seasons. During his stay, A&M posted a 29-19-2 record, including a 24-5-1 ledger from 1963-65, and a pair of league titles.

Meanwhile, The Citadel had launched a search for a head coach who had a winning tradition, and that's how the Redhead became a Palmetto State resident.

And from 1966 through 1972, the Bulldogs established themselves as one of the most respected and dangerous grid teams in the Southern Conference, all because Parker introduced the veer offense to the area, and it didn't take long to leave its mark.

The 1971 Cadet squad raced to a fine 8-3 record, scored 366 points, and chalked up over 5,000 yards of total offense that season which ranked The Citadel as the nation's fourth-leading producer of real estate.

Parker's seven-year stand in Charleston gave the Bulldogs a 39-34 won-lost column.

His fourth head coaching position in as many schools is the one for which Tiger followers are grateful, because in December of 1972, the Smilin' Redhead became Clemson's 19th head coach.

Armed with his potent veer offense, Parker's enthusiasm and determination to make the Tigers a winner resulted in a 5-6 record his first season at Clemson and a third place finish in the ACC behind bowl-bound N. C. State and Maryland.

And last season's 7-4 record gave the Redhead a two-year Clemson mark of 12-10, and a 14-year head coaching record of 80-63-2 in the college ranks.

Prior to his initial grid campaign at Clemson, Parker promised to leave no stone unturned nor any avenue unexplored in an effort to put the Tigers' football fortunes along side of the country's top powers.

For the past two seasons, the Tigers' football fortunes have definitely been on the upswing. And if his past record is any indication of what to expect, then Parker's Tigers should continue to show improvement with each grid campaign.

Parker and his wife, the former Betty Goggans of Rison, Ark., have three children—Mrs. Vicki Wallace; Cindy, a student at Clemson; and Jim Mack.

Parker and '74 Tig Quarterback Mark Fellers discuss strategy.

An extra paycheck every month...that's one of the benefits of the Air Force Reserve. And as your rank goes up, so does the amount of that paycheck. All we ask of your time is one weekend a month and two weeks active duty during the year.

There are low-cost insurance plans, retirement benefits. An opportunity to learn a new skill or maybe sharpen up the one you used to have in the service. And the new faces and experiences of a Reserve weekend could be just the change you need in your regular routine.

If you had prior service bring yourself and your experience back to the Air Force Reserve. You'll benefit and so will the country. So, if you are between the ages of 17-34, call toll free 800-447-4700 (in Illinois call 800-322-4400) for the location of your nearest Air Force Reserve recuiter. Or, just send in the coupon.

Prior to the 1970 football season, the Tiger Paw was adopted to help distinguish the Clemson Tiger from the many other Tigers at schools such as Auburn, Princeton, LSU, Memphis State and Missouri. It did not serve as a replacement to the Tiger, but as something to go along with our Clemson Tiger.

ANOTHER RECORD FOR IPTAY

For the first time in history, Clemson IPTAY members contributed over three quarters of a million dollars to the Clemson athletic program for the fiscal year of 1974-75.

The highly-successful 12 month period also marked the 11th consecutive year that IPTAY funds had increased over the previous year.

Altogether, $854,500 were contributed by 10,706 individuals and business firms. This represented 114 per cent of the goal set by the officers and directors.

The State of South Carolina reached 115 per cent of its goal, North Carolina netted 108 per cent, Georgia 117 and the remaining states 108.

Breaking down the various categories, final figures show there were 7,360 $20 IPTAY members, 2,193 who were $100 Gold Carders, 750 in the $250 Gold Card listing, 281 who were $500 Gold Cards, 84 who were a Tiger Donor ($1,000) and 38 who were Scholarship Donors ($2,000).

Kershaw County paced the Palmetto State by making 146 per cent of its goal. In second place was Allendale County with 138 per cent, third spot went to Berkeley with 132 per cent and with 127 per cent in fourth place was Newberry County.

Rounding out the top counties were Calhoun and Hampton, each with 125 per cent; Dorchester, Lexington, Greenville and Charleston Counties with 124 per cent each; and Anderson with 123 per cent.

Again, Greenville County raised the largest contributions of any other county in the state with $132,790, nearly twice as much as Richland's $66,560.

The Top Ten was rounded out with Anderson ($61,140), Pickens ($59,360), Spartanburg ($53,590), Greenwood ($24,030), Florence ($23,910), Lexington ($22,630), Orangeburg ($19,110) and Charleston ($17,580).

IPTAY was organized in 1934 by the late Dr. Ruppert H. (Rube) Fike with one purpose in mind—to finance athletic scholarships for Clemson's intercollegiate program. And since that time, not one single penny has gone for anything else other than scholarships for Clemson athletics. This year there will be 12 sports in the program as the Tigers will field a wrestling team for the first time.

Thousands of student-athletes have received an education through IPTAY, which may not have been possible otherwise. And many of these athletes have brought honor to themselves and Clemson by being named to All-America, all-conference and all-state teams. In 20 years existence of the Atlantic Coast Conference, the Tigers have won 13 outright conference championships and shared another.

Membership in IPTAY is open to anyone interested in helping Clemson students who participate in one or more of the 12 sports which the Tigers field. Gifts to IPTAY are matched by most matching gift companies.

IPTAY members receive ticket priority in football and basketball over everybody else, and season ticket IPTAY orders are always filled first.

Forest Hughes, Jr., of Winnsboro served as IPTAY president in the just passed record-breaking year. Serving with him were George Poole, Jr., of Mullins as vice president and Reeves Gressette, Jr., of Orangeburg as secretary-treasurer. These same officers were re-elected in August to serve another year.

CRAIG BRANTLEY-
Clemson's Big Play Artist

Senior flanker Craig Brantley, a product of Myers Park High School in Charlotte, N. C., is Clemson's Big Play Artist. The 6-1, 176-pound speedster has been on the receiving end of 11 passes in his Clemson career for a whopping 467 yards, or an average of 46.1 yards per catch. And half of his catches, five, have gone for touchdowns. Craig's scoring catches have been: 53 yards as a sophomore vs. Georgia Tech; 55 yards and 97 yards as a junior last fall against Virginia; 78 yards against Tulane in the season opener four weeks ago; and 80 yards against Georgia Tech 14 days ago.

Not all of Craig's catches have gone for six points, but just about every time he has touched the ball something has happened. He is pictured here as a sophomore on a 62-yard non-scoring jaunt against Wake Forest.

Then two weeks ago, Craig took a Willie Jordan aerial and raced unmolested for an 80-yard scoring bomb. (Anderson Independent Photo by Terry Dickson)

VINCE PERONE'S TIGER OF THE WEEK

Tulane	CRAIG BRANTLEY RONNIE SMITH	N. C. State
Alabama		Florida State
Georgia Tech	WILLIE JORDAN	North Carolina
Georgia		Maryland
Wake Forest		South Carolina
Duke

After each game during the 1975 season, the Clemson Coaching Staff will select the TIGER OF THE WEEK for his outstanding play and his name will be published here the following home game.

CLEMSON ALMA MATER

Where the Blue Ridge yawns its greatness
Where the Tigers play;
Here the sons of dear old Clemson,
Regin supreme alway.

CHORUS

Dear old Clemson, we will triumph
And with all our might
That the Tiger's roar may echo
O'er the mountain height.

Words by A. C. Corcoran, '19
Music by Dr. Hugh McGarity

We're looking for certain majors to become Lieutenants.

Mechanical and civil engineering majors . . . aerospace and aeronautical engineering majors . . . majors in electronics . . . computer science . . . mathematics.

The Air Force needs people . . . many with the above academic majors. And AFROTC has several different programs where you can fit . . . 4-year, 3-year, or 2-year programs. Some offering full scholarships. All offering $100 a month allowance during the last two years of the program. Flying opportunities. And all leading to an Air Force officer's commission, plus advanced education.

If you'd like to cash in on these Air Force benefits, start by looking into the Air Force ROTC.

Put it all together in Air Force ROTC.

A limited edition for friends of the

CLEMSON TIGER

For the discriminating sportsman and collector. A work of art to cherish as you remember the best of times. The exceptional gift for the Clemson fan. "The Clemson Tiger," a dramatic animal sculpture from the prestigious studio of Louis Paul Jonas, Inc., of New York.

An opportunity to our knowledge never before offered to any college or university. Created exclusively for and in cooperation with the Clemson University Athletic Department.

A delicate, anatomically detailed interpretation fashioned from a strong clay-based material called "resilient ceramic." Individually finished and painted by hand in oil colors by professionally trained artists who produce a unique collection of Limited Editions priced between $350 and $700. Each model in one-tenth scale. "The Clemson Tiger," base: 14½ x 5 inches, $400.

Only five hundred models will be produced, over approximately thirty months. A few of these models are ready now for immediate delivery.

A special project commissioned by and available exclusively through:

HAMPTON III GALLERY LTD.

See "The Clemson Tiger" and a special showing of many other animal models by Jonas Studios now on display at HAMPTON III GALLERY, LTD.
Mon. - Sat.—12:00 P.M. to 5 P.M.
Located 2½ miles north of Greenville on US 29N.

ACC Viewpoints: Quarterbacks Recall Most Memorable Plays

SCOTT GARDNER, Virginia — "I've been playing football 12 years now and there are many plays that stand out. Most of these were successful, but one play in particular, a pass that was incomplete, is more memorable than all the others. The play came in the opening game of last season and the first game under new coach Sonny Randle. We were losing, 35-7, but in the fourth quarter our defense consistently forced Navy to turn the ball over and our offense completed 19 of 26 passes for three touchdowns. With the score, 35-28, with six seconds left, we had the ball at the Navy six, fourth and goal. The play we ran, a roll-out pass to the right, failed, but we, as a team, learned something most valuable that day. We had come from far back and had not given up, and the entire team felt it was the beginning of the new look in Virginia football."

DAVE BUCKEY, N. C. State — "My most memorable play, as odd as it may seem, was one I didn't even see. We were playing in Charlottesville last season, trailing 12-21 in the final half just after our second score. We had to go for a two-point try. At the snap of the ball, Virginia rushed 11 men. I took a couple of steps back and all I could see were Virginia players right in my face. I lofted the ball toward the end zone and hoped that someone would be there to catch it. Virginia's all-out rush put me flat on my back, but my head was turned at an angle where I could see the small section of Wolfpack fans at the other end of the stadium. When they exploded into an uproar, I knew we had made the big play. It enabled us to come back for a 22-21 win. I'll never forget seeing those fans jumping up and down."

BILL PASCHALL, North Carolina — "I really don't have one memorable play, but our entire game against Missouri in 1973 will always stick in my mind. Nick Vidnovic, our regular quarterback, had been injured the previous week and Chris Kupec started the game against Missouri. But he was injured on the first play of the second quarter and I was sent in to replace him. I had been the holder for place-kicks during the first two games, but I had never taken a snap in a varsity game before. We were trailing 14-0 at the time and I was very nervous. I couldn't move the offense on my first three series, but late in the first half we drove 87 yards for our first score. Earle Bethea, Charles Waddell, Jimmy Jerome and Dick Oliver made nice catches to keep the drive alive and I got the touchdown on a one-yard sneak. We lost the game, 27-14, but that was my first real taste of college football and I'll never forget it."

MARK MANGES, Maryland — "The most memorable play in my career came in the fourth quarter of last year's game with North Carolina. It was our third game of the season and I had not played in either of the first two. I was beginning to wonder how I would do when I did get to play. Coach Claiborne put me in and on the first play I was dropped for a loss. The next running play went for no gain. On third down I rolled out but was forced to run for the first down. It was two plays later that proved to be my most memorable. On a third-and-eight situation, I hit John Alkire over the middle for a 19-yard gain. That play gave me confidence in my ability to move the team."

HAL SPEARS, Duke — "It happened in 1973 in our final game of the season against North Carolina. We had stopped the Tar Heels on our 25-yard line with just a few minutes remaining in the game. We needed a ball-control drive, but even more, an insurance score. We began our drive but just past their 45-yard line, I was hit in the head and left the game. Mark Johnson replaced me at quarterback. On his first play, Mark called an audible and Mike Bomgardner ran 40 yards for the much needed score. While I was not directly a part of the play, I was with Mark calling the audible, Mike scoring, and the line blocking. Football at Duke stresses team play and my most memorable play was a team play and a team victory."

MIKE O'CAIN, Clemson — "My most memorable play would have to be a 39-yard touchdown run I made against Georgia last fall. It was third down, and we were trailing 17-14. Coach Parker called the play because it had been good to us in a couple of other critical situations. Fortunately, I was able to break it all the way and put us ahead 21-17. I guess the main reasons it stands out are (1) we won, (2) and the win came against a team that nobody, except us, thought we would beat. Also, I remember when I was a small boy how I wished Clemson could beat Georgia, and now, here I was helping the Tigers beat a team they hadn't defeated in 20 years."

SOLOMON EVERETT, Wake Forest — "The most memorable play of my short college career came in our home contest against Clemson last fall. With time quickly running out in the first half, we started a drive. After the previous play had gained only one yard, a roll-out pass to the left was called in the huddle. After rolling out to that side, I suddenly found that the defense had shut off that portion of the field. I then reversed field and found Greg Sims beyond the Clemson secondary for a 38-yard completion, putting us in good field position to score before the first half ended. That play had to be the highlight of my freshman season in the ACC."

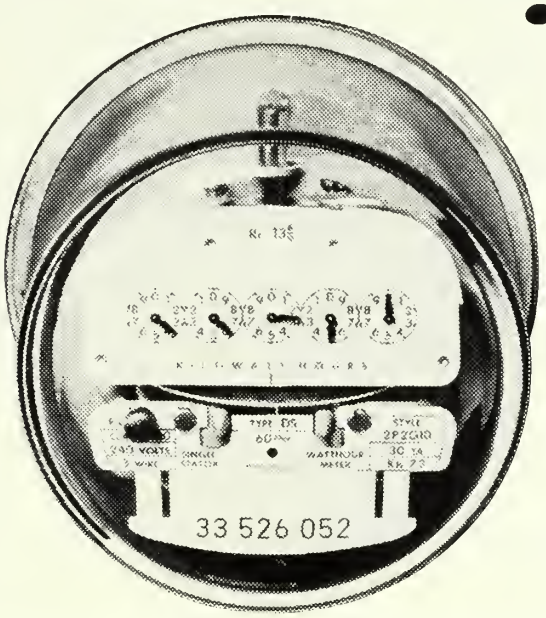
The faster it spins, the more you spend.



The purpose of that rotating disk on your electric meter is to measure the amount of power being used.

The more you're using, the faster it goes. And the higher your monthly bill will be.

Keep that in mind. And use electricity wisely.

Because whenever you waste power, you waste money.

CLEMSON UNIVERSITY

They are doctors, lawyers, teachers, farmers, businesspersons, military strategists, public servants. They have a lot going for them. They have an opportunity to grow. And their roots are here on this campus. They are former students of this institution in the foothills of South Carolina.

Clemson University has been involved in providing one of this nation's most vital commodities since 1893. Yet, the educational capabilities of Clemson continue to mount, and the University has a vibrant incentive to demonstrate its ability, and an objective yardstick to measure it.

As Clemson University continues its contribution to the development of this state, it remains an indispensable part of its future. Combine capacity, ability and opportunity and you conclude that potential is virtually unlimited.

It is, with your help. Graduates, former students and friends of Clemson are not only a source of pride for the University but a monumental strength in undergirding its educational programs with annual investments in the institution through the Clemson Alumni Loyalty Fund and other development opportunities at the University.

But greater challenges lie ahead. Knowledge has multiplied beyond comprehension; the domestic and world situations have become unwieldy and precarious. To make sure performance measures up to potential, Clemson University utilizes wisely and frugally every source of aid possible from all sectors of a free society — private citizens and foundations, business and industrial organizations, state and federal governments.

Now, more than ever before, Clemson needs you, your interest, and your investment in education. Now, more than ever before, won't you consider what you can do for Clemson?

Clemson played before almost a half-million football fans last fall, and 251,424 of those grid boosters saw the Tigers' six home games in 1974, for an average of 41,904 per game. The largest home crowd a year ago was the 52,667 total that watched as Clemson whipped arch-rival South Carolina 39-21, and that marked the second largest home crowd ever.

ARA-Slater's philosophy is a unique, systematic approach designed to achieve our most important goal: STUDENT SATISFACTION. This concept is a result of our experience with millions of students. We have the flexibility to understand your needs and the capability to satisfy them.

At Clemson, ARA demonstrates practical, new methods for providing nourishing, well-balanced meals to athletes, students and staff. Our corporate and regional specialists give ARA's dining service manager expert advice in planning menus, purchasing goods, controlling waste, utilizing labor. The support of this team effort is carried out daily in Schilletter Hall and Harcombe Commons, and at the Clemson House Buffeteria. It is our desire to serve students what they want and to accommodate them by providing this same efficient service for special events or festive holiday meals.

We're here to provide the type of service that will benefit the entire school and community. THAT'S WHAT WE THINK A DINING SERVICE IS ALL ABOUT.

Modern-day times came to our Clemson Tiger last fall. In the 1974 finale against South Carolina, the Tiger jumped on a Honda and led Red Parker's gridders down the hill in Death Valley, much to the pleasure of 52,667 fans.

Where the Action is!

When the name of the game is service, you have to be where the action is!

For textiles, the action is in the southeast, and that's why we have just completed a major expansion of our Southeast District Office in Charlotte. Every aspect of this facility — technical service laboratories, warehouse, distribution and customer service — has been expanded and modernized. Where the action is — that's where you will find Sandoz with the service you need, when you need it, and where you need it.

Why not see for yourself?
Come and visit us, and see what the newest in textile customer service facilities can do for you, and why you too will consider us your partner in wet processing operations.

1975-76 CLEMSON BASKETBALL

TIGER OUTLOOK

Nine returning lettermen are back in camp from last year's Clemson basketball team, one that many felt was the best ever in the school's history, as Bill Foster enters his initial year at the Tiger helm.

Heading the list is 7-1 junior center Tree Rollins, a second team All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection last winter who led the league in both rebounding (11.7) and blocked shots (119).

Rollins gained some international experience for the second consecutive summer as a member of the first Intercontinental Cup Basketball Team, and then spent the middle part of October in Mexico City at the Pan Am Games.

Last year Clemson raced to a fine 17-11 record, posted its best regular season ACC finish ever with a second place tie, earned its first national ranking ever in both wire service polls, and advanced to its first post-season berth ever with an NIT bid.

But Foster is absent three starters from that team in Jo Jo Bethea and Wayne Croft, both of whom graduated, and Skip Wise, who inked a multi-year three-quarter of a million dollar contract with the Baltimore franchise of the ABA.

Returning with Rollins as a starter is Stan Rome (10.4), who spent the fall with the football team.

Other lettermen back are Colon Abraham (7.1), David Brown (2.9), Jimmy Howell (2.5), and Andy Butchko at the forward spots, and Bruce Harman (1.7) and John Franken (3.0) in the backcourt.

Charlie Rogers (3.9) has served as backup to Rollins for the past two seasons, and he's ready for more duty at center.

Freshmen signees include 6-3 Greg Coles of East Elmhurst, N. Y., 6-7 Marvin Dickerson of Charleston, and 6-2 Derrick Johnson of Indianapolis, Ind.

The Tigers are talented, however, young — three freshmen, three sophomores, four juniors, and only two seniors. But Foster is working for the right blend to keep Clemson's cage fortunes on a national level of prominence.

IPTAY-- Special Recognition

For the 11th straight year, contributions made to the Clemson IPTAY Club showed an increase over the previous 12 months. Altogether, 10,706 individuals and firms contributed $854,500, which was 114 per cent of the quota initially set.

South Carolina made 115 per cent of its goal, North Carolina 108, Georgia 117 and the remaining states 108.

This was the first time over three quarters of a million dollars was realized and the fourth straight year over a half million dollars came in. Every penny received by IPTAY since its beginning in 1934 has been used for athletic scholarships only.

On the following pages, we have listed those people and business organizations, who are being recognized by their permission, for their interest and continued support of IPTAY.

The new Firestone Tire & Rubber Company Plant in Wilson, N.C.

Built with P-R-I-D-E
by

YEARGIN CONSTRUCTION COMPANY

At Yeargin we take pride in our work. And we are especially proud of the new steel belted radial passenger tire plant we built for Firestone at Wilson, North Carolina. More than 1,600,000 square feet.

As the builder of this new facility, we handled all aspects of construction with our own craftsmen and supervision — civil, mechanical, and electrical. And we completed the work in record time. The first tire was produced only 8 1/2 months after the ground-breaking in June, 1973.

When you think construction, think Yeargin. We can build it fast; we can save you money; and our quality of workmanship is second to none.
